THE HISTORY OF AFTERNOON TEA

Afternoon tea was introduced in England by Anna, the seventh Duchess of Bedford, in the year 1840. She grew tired of having to wait for her late evening supper and mid-afternoon she would ask servants to sneak her tea and slices of bread and butter. This grew to cakes and sandwiches, until her friends began to join in, and the starving upper classes hungrily adopted the practice. Since then, afternoon tea has become a staple of the English diet.
